TRAINING TOMORROW'S LEADERS

Chris Smith | Nashville Class 78
Director of Business Analytics for A.O. Smith

I enjoyed meeting and networking with all of my YLC cohort members. It was inspiring to see so many remarkable people who are looking to have a positive impact within the greater Nashville area. The instructors were engaging and insightful. They are also bonafide stars within the community who made the material come to life with interactive activities and real-life examples.

Queenie Lux | Nashville Class 78
Manager, Clinical Informatics Operations for HCA Healthcare

Young Leaders Council helped me gain a newfound energy that I didn't realize I was missing. The passion from each instructor solidified just why I joined YLC in the first place – to give back to the communities around me and to better support those in need. The internship placement portion of the program has also been very beneficial for me. As a YLC board intern, I am able to engage with other board members to listen and learn how they make decisions that ultimately impact the organization overall.

Shannon Baldwin-Davis | Williamson County 2021
Director of Customer Channel for Schneider Electric

I enjoyed the opportunity to expand my knowledge of non-profit board service. All of the speakers were highly engaging. Even in a virtual environment, YLC encouraged participation, and we had the opportunity to break out into small groups and practice the skills we learned. YLC is an excellent program for networking, community involvement, and an enjoyable and rewarding experience.

A pair of hands is shown holding a small green seedling with soil. The seedling has several small green leaves and a thin brown stem. The hands are cupped around the base of the plant, which is still in the soil. The background is a soft-focus image of a person's face, suggesting a connection between the person and the growth. The overall tone is warm and hopeful.
